

Frequency of Play

While females make up one quarter of on-course golfers, they play with less frequency than their male counterparts, in general.

Women and girls accounted for 22% of the approximately 510 million rounds played at U.S. golf courses in 2022.

Female golfers averaged 17.5 rounds in 2022 as compared to 20.8 for male golfers.

Did you know there are almost as many female golfers under the age of 30 as there are over the age of 50?

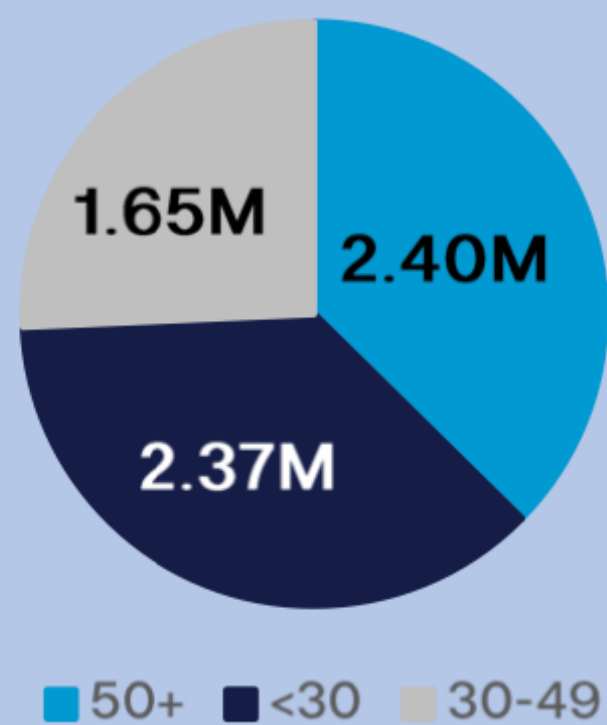

Photo courtesy of Matt Aylward